

MILLIONS HANG ON A JUDGE'S WORD

Future Control of the Georgia Railroad
Depends on Judge Pardee.

MR. MILTON H. SMITH WANTS IT

The Gossips Say He Will Buy Out
Thomas and Ryan.

THAT IS IF THEY WIN THEIR CASE

If They Lose, the Louisville and Nashville Will Not Have To Buy, but Might Acquire C. & W. C.

It is now with Judge Don A. Pardee to say whether or not Thomas and Ryan are entitled to a half interest in the lease of the Georgia railroad or whether the entire lease belongs to the Louisville and Nashville railroad.

The argument in the case was concluded yesterday by Mr. Henry Crawford, counsel for Thomas and Ryan.

And in passing it may be remarked that there is a bit of gossip going around to the effect that if Thomas and Ryan win their suit the Louisville and Nashville will pay them a right round sum to surrender their interest and also their Charleston and Western Carolina railroad system. In other words, the Louisville and Nashville, according to this report, will buy them out, lock, stock and barrel.

This is given for what it is worth. No one will dispute the statement that the Louisville and Nashville wants very much to control the Georgia railroad absolutely. If it gets a clear title to the lease for the next eighty-five years it will be decidedly in the saddle with regard to the Atlanta and West Point and the Western Railway of Alabama, which it also wants. The control of these two properties goes with the control of the Georgia. Messrs. Thomas and Ryan are traders. General Thomas has been largely interested in the operation of railroads. It is true, but he is primarily a trader, and he does not want the Charleston and Western Carolina, but does want the operation, his and his associates are men who believe in quick sales and large profits, and if they can turn the Charleston and Carolina over to somebody at a handsome advance they are the men to let it go.

Something more than a cold wave appeared to be in the wind yesterday. President Milton H. Smith, of the Louisville and Nashville, and his general manager, Mr. J. G. Metcalf, were both here. Major J. W. Thomas, president of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis, came down from Nashville. Mr. H. M. Comer, president of the Central of Georgia, remained over. Mr. Crawford, counsel for Thomas and Ryan, is vice president of the Charleston and Western Carolina. So all the parties who would be concerned in a trade were suggested above were on the ground.

It has often been said that Mr. Milton Smith wanted the South Carolina and Georgia railroad, which extends from Charleston to Augusta, if he could only get control of the Georgia.

The Louisville and Nashville once invested something like a million dollars in the second mortgage bonds of the old South Carolina Central company, but did not get control then. That road is now the South Carolina and Georgia, controlled by Mr. Parsons, of New York.

It may be that the Thomas and Ryan road would be a better bargain than the Parsons line. In the first place, Messrs. Thomas, Ryan and Crawford have about 50 miles in their system, while the South Carolina and Georgia has less than 200, not counting the recent acquisition, the Augusta Southern.

In the second place, the Thomas and Ryan company's funded debt is only $2,720,000 against $5,250,000 on the Parsons property. The latter has $5,000,000 common stock, and the former has only $1,200,000. So in considering the two propositions, it would be seen that Thomas and Ryan offered as much mileage for half as much money, assuming that the prices asked by both parties are based in the same manner upon the funded debt.

Both these lines lead to a port, the Parsons line to Charleston direct and the Thomas and Ryan system to Port Royal direct, with a friendly connection to Charleston. It is only 115 miles from Augusta to Port Royal, against 135 miles from Augusta to Charleston by the direct route and but 148 miles over the Thomas and Ryan route by way of Yemassee and thence over the Plant system to Charleston.

Bearing these facts in mind, it may be that there is something more than imagination in the report that President Milton Smith is seriously thinking of buying the Charleston and Western Carolina, if its owners, Thomas, Ryan and Crawford, will their suit over the lease of the Georgia. It has been said that the Louisville and Nashville already owns a majority of the stock in the Charleston and Western Carolina.

olina. As mentioned above, the common stock of that company is $1,200,000.

It has been suggested by close observers of this litigation that the Louisville and Nashville has a contract with Thomas and Ryan to buy them out if they win their case, and that this proceeding was brought to get a judicial confirmation of title. They are all deep gentlemen, and this is plausible, although there seemed to be a determined effort on the part of the Louisville and Nashville to scoop the old Central's interest in the lease of the Georgia.

Mr. Crawford, in his argument yesterday, as he had done before, declared repeatedly that the Louisville and Nashville had attempted to confiscate the interest of his clients and he added ironically: "They disclaim any purpose to confiscate our property. All they wished to do was to take it without consideration."

Entertained His Hearers.

Mr. Crawford's speech in conclusion was a very witty argument. There was a great deal that was entertaining to the listeners at the expense of opposing counsel. He has a way of persistently devolving his opponent which diverts the crowd. He did practically all the speaking and he had some of the best lawyers of the city in his audience. They had come to hear the popery attorney from New York tell why Thomas and Ryan ought to be established in possession of a half interest in the lease of the Georgia road. The sale of the old Central's half interest to the Mercantile Trust Company having been made and approved by the court and there being no proof that the half interest was not turned over to Thomas and Ryan, that much of the premises was indisputed, except the Louisville and Nashville contended that the half interest in the lease was extinguished by the bankruptcy and legal death of the old Central. If that contention was good, of course the Mercantile Trust Company had bought something which was defunct. As previously explained in The Constitution, Mr. Crawford argued that the half interest in the lease was not something which died with its former owner, but was an assigned interest, and as such of a "living" and continuing entity as the lease of the Southwestern railroad or of the Augusta and Savannah. This is the point on which the case rests and it must be decided on the contracts or leases made between the Georgia Railroad Company and William M. Wadley, and between Wadley and the Central and the Louisville and Nashville. Mr. Crawford insisted that all the correspondence, official records, rental payments and everything connected with the leases and the operation of the Georgia road under the leases, went to show that the two lessee companies were regarded as tenants in common who could assign their half interest, if they saw fit, to any other person, and Mr. Crawford, on the other hand, had argued all the time that the interest of either road in the lease was indivisible and inalienable.

Mr. Crawford paid his respects at some length to General Manager T. K. Scott, of the Georgia. Mr. Scott had declined to recognize Messrs. Thomas and Ryan when they put in their claim for recognition. They had proposed that they themselves and Mr. Crawford be substituted as the three commissioners to represent the Georgia road, and Mr. Scott had refused to do so. Mr. Crawford would never recognize them and consulted no one in the management of the company except Mr. Milton Smith. Mr. Crawford appeared resentful and said that his clients had been badly treated.

Judge Pardee inquired when Mr. Scott was last elected, and being informed that he had never been elected, once, the judge remarked that Mr. Scott seemed to be holding over until his successor was elected and qualified.

"Holding on," suggested Mr. Crawford. "He said that he would recognize no one but the Louisville and Nashville as having an interest in the lease. He was a man, not a fountain of authority. His was reflected light. He seized the scepter and usurped the throne. The creature became greater than the creator and would not recognize the authority of the commissioners who elected him."

It came in the argument through a reference made to the testimony taken at a hearing, that the Louisville and Nashville had asked the Georgia railroad, the lessor, to exchange Atlanta and West Point certificates of indebtedness for stock so as to give the Louisville and Nashville more stock to vote in the Atlanta and West Point elections, and the exchange was made.

There was some debate between the attorneys over the exchange in value of the securities put up by the old Central to secure the Georgia's stockholders. Mr. Crawford declared that the exchange had been going on for ten years prior to the receivership. Major Cumming and Mr. King said that the old Central's securities had been considered worth $500,000 up to the time of the receivership or thereabouts.

When Mr. Crawford concluded his argument, Judge Pardee stated that he would render his decision later.

EXPOSITION PRESIDENT HERE.

Major J. W. Thomas Thanks Atlantians for Their Interest and Aid.

"I feel twenty-five years younger than I did three weeks ago," said Major J. W. Thomas, president of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad.

Major Thomas came down yesterday from Nashville, the first time he has been in Atlanta for three months. During the Tennessee exposition, of which he was president, he had so much to look after that he could not go away.

The exposition's president talks modestly about the success which was achieved, but he was always a modest gentleman. He said that the exposition had fulfilled his every expectation. It paid all its debts. He would have been glad if it had paid more, so that the grounds could have been purchased for a park for the city.

"Atlanta acted magnificently, and we can never forget her interest and aid. Atlanta came three times to Nashville, and on Atlanta day did nobly. Our people came up and paid their money. Our receipts were over $25,000 that day, and they set us right up on high ground. I wish The Constitution would express our hearty appreciation of the month in which Atlantians treated us."

Major Thomas spent a part of the day at the Western and Atlantic's office, conferring with the heads of the departments. He left last night for Nashville.

Officials Here.

Mr. J. T. Harahan, second vice president of the Illinois Central, and Mr. J. H. Sullivan, president of the Kansas City, Memphis and Birmingham, were in Atlanta yesterday. They had a conference with General Manager Metcalf, of the Louisville and Nashville, and Mr. George C. Smith, of the Atlanta and West Point, and on the other hand, Mr. Thompson, assistant general manager of the Southern railway, schedules and service in the yellow fever section.

Major McCollum Is Ill.

Major J. L. McCollum, superintendent of the Western and Atlantic, is ill at his home in Marietta, and has not been in the city this week. He has been threatened with an attack of malarial fever, but was better yesterday.

Out on the Road.

President George C. Smith, of the Atlanta and West Point, leaves this morning for a trip down the road. Very fine crops have been made along the line this year, notably tobacco. Mr. Smith has taken an interest in the cultivation of tobacco, and he says that it can be profitably grown in Georgia and Alabama.

Pure blood is absolutely necessary for perfect health. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the pure blood purifier and great health giver.

Not one test given gold, though, will iron pyrites stand. Much the same way with other malt extracts.

They resemble Johann Hoff's. Look like it, but there is one difference—a great difference—none of them will do what Johann Hoff's will.

One dozen bottles of the genuine JOHANN HOFF'S MALT EXTRACT give as much strength and nourishment as a cask of ale, without being intoxicating.

LIQUOR DEALERS' TROUBLES

Will Be Heard by Council Committee Soon.

COMPLAINTS OF RETAIL MEN

They Will Appear and Tell of the Reported Evils of Drug Store Liquor Dealing.

The petition of the Retail Liquor Dealers' Association, presented to the council Monday afternoon, which was given in The Constitution yesterday, will be considered by the police and ordinance committee of the council the latter part of the present week or early next week.

The retail men will appear before the joint committee and explain in detail the causes that led up to the presentation of the interesting and somewhat caustic petition on Sunday and after the 10 o'clock closing hour of the retail saloons nightly.

The petition says that the liquor dealers and the drug store liquor dealers are taken to task for alleged violations of the spirit of the laws governing the liquor trade in Atlanta. They will be represented by Colonel W. T. Myers and he will lay before the committee the case of the retail liquor dealers in detail.

One of the principal complaints of the retail liquor dealers is aimed at the reported violation of law by the drug store liquor dealers, who are accused of selling liquor on Sunday and after the 10 o'clock closing hour of the retail saloons nightly.

The outcome of the present trouble will be awaited with interest by all the liquor men of this division. This is the time of year that the wholesale and drug store men are making no reply to the assertions of the retail dealers.

WILL O'BRIEN GO BEFORE COURT

This Is the Question That Puzzles Officers at Fort McPherson.

The diplomacy that is exercised at Fort McPherson over the rumored courtmartial of Lieutenant O'Brien for drunkenness and conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman would do credit to the country's greatest statesmen.

The officers are non-committal in the extreme and will neither deny nor affirm anything relating to the affair. It is known that Lieutenant O'Brien is under arrest, but further than that no one knows anything. It is said that some of the officers do not know what has or will be done about a courtmartial.

The time limit for the commanding officer to prefer charges is in reality ten days and that time has been passed a week.

If the charges have been sent to Governor's Island they will be ready to go to court here to investigate the status of affairs. If he reports that a courtmartial would be advisable, it will be held, otherwise not.

Lieutenant O'Brien has many friends at the fort and it would be hard to see him appear that he acted in any but a proper way during the recent absence of the regiment, and if an investigation is held he would very likely come clear.

The government inspector of army posts is expected to arrive in Atlanta at any time. P. W. Seger is the officer in charge of this division. This is the time of year that he will come. As he has the inspection of the entire fort in charge, he may be delegated to look into the O'Brien affair, although it is said that his duties are on another line and his presence would be of no significance in connection with the affair.

POLICE BOARD MAKES REPORT.

It Wants the Council to Lump the Police Department Appropriation.

The board of police commissioners has asked the city council to make the appropriation for the police department for November and December in one lump sum, so that the board can divide the money as it may desire. Heretofore the appropriation has been made in monthly installments, the finance committee specifying the amounts through which the money shall be expended.

This left the board of commissioners no discretion and if one fund ran short and another ran ahead the board had no authority to equalize the funds by taking from one and adding to the other. The board asked about this yesterday Mayor Kendrick, secretary of the board, said the board simply desired the council to lump the appropriation so that the board can apportion among the several funds and thereby put the money to the most urgent needs of the department. For instance, if there is an excess in the fund for purchasing horses and a shortage in the fund for purchasing wagons, the board wants the appropriation so made that it can take from the excess fund and add to the wagon fund, equalizing the funds according to necessity.

The petition of the commissioners was referred to the finance committee of the council Monday and it will be considered at the next meeting of the body.

WANT RECEIVER FOR INGRAHAM

BILL FILED AGAINST HIM AND MRS. HAWKINS YESTERDAY.

It Is Charged That Ingraham Fraudulently Transferred the Property to His Sister.

The Smith-Evans Drug Company, S. P. Richards & Co., and J. T. Quinn & Co., through their attorneys, Bishop & Hill, and Mayson & Hill, filed a bill in the superior court yesterday asking that a receiver be appointed to take charge of all the stock or goods of Fred A. Ingraham, which was sold to Mrs. Sallie Hawkins, and that they be restrained from disposing of any of the goods or in any way interfering with them.

The bill alleges that Fred Ingraham is indebted to the Smith-Evans Drug Co. in the sum of $12.50, to S. P. Richards in the sum of $19.88, and to J. T. Quinn & Co. in the sum of $35.

The petition states that in July Ingraham sold to Mrs. Sallie Hawkins the drug store, including the stock and accounts and on the same day conveyed to her parts of several lots. It is charged that these conveyances stripped Ingraham of all his property and placed it in the name of Mrs. Hawkins, who now claims it.

The petition further states that Mrs. Hawkins is a sister of Ingraham and at the time of the transfer she knew him to be insolvent. They charge further that the transfers were fraudulent and for the purpose of defeating the creditors of the drug store. It is charged that Ingraham was not indebted to Mrs. Hawkins in the sums named in the petition.

It is charged that the defendants are trying to dispose of the goods as a whole and the petitioners are carrying on business in the usual way.

The petitioners ask for an injunction against Ingraham and Mrs. Hawkins, prohibiting them from disposing of the stock and fixtures, accounts and lots of land. They ask that a receiver be appointed to take charge of the stock, fixtures, accounts and land, and to collect and hold the proceeds subject to orders of the court.

Mrs. Winslow's Reception.

The reception at which Mrs. George Winslow entertained her lady friends yesterday afternoon was an elegant affair. During the hours of 5 and 7 o'clock several hundred guests called, and the beautiful polka waltz, the artistic decorations, and every detail of the hospitable home made the scene a very brilliant one.

Mrs. Winslow received her guests in the drawing room, which was beautifully decorated with palms, chrysanthemums and roses. In the dining room beyond delicious salads were served from a table artistic in decorations of pink carnations and maiden hair fern. The same flowers filled the vases and bowls adorning the buffet. Across the hall in the library punch was served by three charming young women—Miss Winslow, Laurie Harrison and Anita Black. Yellow chrysanthemums were the flowers profusely and gracefully used, while in the room adjoining where the lawn were served there were decorations of white chrysanthemums and white flowers of exquisite delicacy.

Mrs. Winslow has made many friends since her residence in Atlanta and is a woman whose brightness and charms make her the ideal graceful hostess. She was exceedingly handsome yesterday afternoon in toilet of rose silk with draperies of English lace. She was assisted in the entertainment of her guests by a number of her lady friends. Among them were Mrs. R. D. Spaulding, Mrs. Samuel Stocking, Mrs. Nellie P. Black, Mrs. Albert Thornton, Mrs. J. H. Nunnally, Mrs. Robert Hemphill, Mrs. Nutting, Mrs. Thomas Northern, Mrs. Calhoun, Mrs. Parker, Miss Gude, Miss Laurie Harrison, Miss Black, Miss Winslow, Miss Starke, Miss Stocking, Miss Wallace, Miss Emma Hemphill, Miss Ethel Cooke, Miss Lucy Newman.

Mrs. R. D. Spaulding wore an elegant toilet of pale gray Brussels net over gray silk. The corsage had a yoke of pale rose silk overlaid with lace, and outlined with a jeweled embroidery.

Mrs. Nellie Peters Black wore black cut velvet with corsage trimmings of duchesse lace. Mrs. Stocking wore an elegant reception gown of black brocade silk with trimmings of pale rose. Mrs. Robert Hemphill wore black brocade silk. Miss Winslow and Miss Harrison wore white organdy. Miss Anita Black wore an exquisite toilet of pale pink silk. Miss Gude wore blue silk with trimmings of white lace. Miss Lucy Newman wore white organdy over pink silk.

Among the beautiful visiting toilets worn was that of Miss Lena Jackson, of New Orleans, whose visit to Atlanta was ever a source of pleasure to her many friends here. She has just returned from Paris and her gown was notably Parisian. It was of pearl gray moire bengaline. The corsage was indestructible in its delicacy of finish. Chiffon and lace and a touch of pale pink were used in its fashion, while her hat was distinctly French in its combination of lace and pink flowers.

Miss Dallas, the popular guest of Miss Black, was notably pretty in a toilet of gray and black plumed hat. Miss Beeks, of Griffin, the lovely guest, wore a dress of gray with a touch of crimson about it. Mrs. George Forrester wore a becoming toilet of turquoise blue silk. Mrs. Brien wore elegant toilet of black brocade silk, and Mrs. T. H. Neal was in black brocade silk.

A New French Class.

Society Today.
This afternoon and evening will be marked by a number of charming social events. There being upon the tapis several weddings of well known young people, two elegant card parties, and the dinner dance at the Capital City club.

Mrs. Floyd W. McKim will entertain in her lovely home a party of fifty ladies, at the very exciting game of progressive six-handed euchre.

The interior decoration and furnishing of the house, headed as its prevailing color green, in harmonizing tones, and Mrs. McKim will carry out the same idea in her floral decorations this afternoon. Faintly different lights will be placed gracefully about the house, and will be the effective adornment in the dining room, where an elegant luncheon will be served at the end of the game. The prizes are unusually handsome, consisting of a cut glass, silver-tipped powder box, a silver measure, a silver vase, and a silver duster.

From 3 until 5 o'clock Mrs. Benson will entertain forty of her lady friends at progressive euchre, and will enhance the beauty of her home by floral decorations of pink and white. Pink and white chrysanthemums will be seen on the table and cabinet decorations, while the cream and cakes will all be in pink and white. The prizes for which the fair ladies will contend are in hand-painted china; the first is a hand painted vase, the second, a hand painted clock stand, and the third a bonnet box.

Thursday afternoon Mrs. Benson will entertain forty of her lady friends who do not play cards at an "initial party." The latter will be something unique and enjoyable, and both parties are in honor of Mrs. John M. Hynds, the guest of Mrs. Benson.

King-Young.
Tonight at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. King occurs the marriage of Miss Louisa Freston King, their sister, and Mr. Harry W. Young. The Rev. Albion W. Knight will perform the ceremony in the presence of the relatives and intimate friends of both parties. Miss Mary Leonard will be the maid of honor and Mr. Joseph Dunlap the best man. The bridesmaids will be Messrs. Martha Goode, Lullie Hanson and Elizabeth Fowler; the groomsmen, Messrs. William Hance, Chas. Howard, and Robert Cunningham, while the bride's little niece and nephew, Mary and Edward King, will be an interesting couple among the attendants. The bride will wear white satin duchesse, and the bridesmaid, white organdy. Chrysanthemums will be the principal flower used in the floral decorations.

Tompkins-Bonner.
This evening the marriage of Miss Martha Tompkins and Mr. Bonney, at the residence of the bride's parents, Baltimore Place. Only the relatives and intimate friends of the contracting parties will witness the happy ceremony, to be followed by an informal reception and luncheon. The bride and her maid of honor will wear clinging toilets of dark green cloth, the bride to carry white roses, and her maid of honor, Miss Anderson, pink roses.

Weems-McGaughy.
This evening at six o'clock occurs the wedding of Miss Eva McGaughy and Mr. S. R. Weems, the ceremony to be performed at the West End Baptist church. Miss Mary McGaughy, the sister of the bride, will be maid of honor, and Mr. Claude H. Hutcheson best man. Mr. R. E.

Collings and Mr. George McGaughy will be the ushers.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. John L. McGaughy will entertain the bridal party at a reception at their residence, 277 People's street. The bride will wear a traveling gown of dark brown cloth and carry pink carnations.

Morrison-Foster.
A wedding of universal interest in Georgia, to occur at high noon today in Eastman, Ga., is that of Mr. W. M. Morrison, of DeKalb county, and Miss Carlotta Foster of Eastman, Ga. Mr. Foster is a young man of beauty, and is widely known and popular, while Mr. Morrison is a host of friends wherever he goes. He is a distinguished member of the Georgia legislature, and is making a brilliant record in his professional as well as political career.

Hellwig-Turner.
The marriage of Miss Villiette A. Turner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Turner, and Theodore A. Hellwig, took place on Wednesday, November 10th, at the home of the bride's parents, No. 248 Quincy street, Brooklyn, N. Y., the Rev. Dr. R. R. Meredith officiating, decorated with yellow and white chrysanthemums and the ceremony was performed beneath an arch of foliage. The bride wore a gown of white corded silk with trimmings of point lace and pearls and a tulle veil caught with a jewel. She was attended as maid of honor by her sister, Miss Ada K. Turner, who wore white organdy over yellow silk. Miss

DEKALB'S REPRESENTATIVE WILL WED MISS FOSTER IN EASTMAN TODAY.

Hon. W. M. Morrison.

Miss Carlotta Foster, the Bride.

Margalen and Miss Adrienne Spear, nieces of the groom, acted as flower girls. They wore frocks of white organdy over silk and carried baskets of white roses.

The groom's brother, Oscar Hellwig, best man, and the ushers were George Hellwig and Harry Bailly. The ceremony was witnessed by about 150 guests. The bride and groom will reside at No. 275 McDonough street.

A Pretty Wedding.
On next Wednesday evening, November 24th, will occur the wedding of Miss Mary Lettard and Mr. Robert Hunter Troy. The ceremony will be performed at the home of the bride's parents, No. 248 Quincy street, and the intimate friends of the contracting parties, and will be solemnized with all the quiet happiness characteristic of the home wedding. The floral decorations will be appropriate and elegant, and a reception and luncheon will follow the ceremony.

The following attendants: Maid of honor, Miss Eva Patterson; first bridesmaid, Miss Sylvia Ewing; Misses Annie Smith, Smithboro, Ga.; Jessie Winston, West Point, Ga.; Alice Smith, Athens, Ga.; Louise Todd. The ushers and groomsmen will be Messrs. Quincy Everett, Hall Richards, Leonard James and Henry Leonard; the best man, Mr. O. D. Sledge, Mississippi. Leonard Louis Leach, Jr., of Mississippi, will precede the wedding party as they enter the drawing room, and will carry the white cushion upon which the bride and groom will kneel at the benediction.

Miss Leonard has been a great favorite in Atlanta, and it is a source of great regret to her many friends and admirers that her new home will be in Tennessee, since Mr. Troy is a prominent and popular gentleman of that state, and resides in Memphis.

Weddings in Columbus.
Columbus, November 16.—(Special.)—The Rankin house was the scene at high noon today of two weddings of much interest in the city. The first wedding was that of Benjamin M. Gerson, of Columbus, and Miss Gertrude Goldberg, of Opeka, a brother of the ushers, the ushers were Messrs. Simon, Henry Kern, H. Simon and Gertrude Rothchild, Dr. W. Brown, president of the Academy. Mr. Gerson is a member of the firm of Gerson Bros. and his bride is a very charming young lady.

The second wedding was that of Mr. D. Goldberg and Miss Lulu Browne. Mr. Goldberg is a popular young business man and his bride is the accomplished daughter of Mr. D. Goldberg, of Sam Gold, of Evansville, Ind., an uncle of the young lady. The bride's father, Mr. Sam Gold, was best man. Dr. Browne, father of the bride, officiated. The same ushers who acted at the first wedding officiated at this also. This afternoon a reception complimentary to the two couples was given. The two couples made a northern bridal tour.

Club Meetings.
Yesterday morning occurred the regular meeting of the home section of the Atlanta Women's Club. In the afternoon Mrs. Burton Smith, the chairman, Mrs. Pattillo conducted the class, and made it one instructive and interesting. In the afternoon the section of current events, led by Mrs. Laurence Haynes, held a very entertaining meeting, discussing the live topics of the day in many hues.
